Homeless well served by German Fest run

Milwaukee — Over 650 runners showed up for the recent German Fest run — an increase of 77 percent from the previous year.

As promised, Usinger's donated two pounds of sausage for each runner, which resulted in over 1,300 pounds of sausage being given to the meal program that feeds Milwaukee's homeless.

"We had a tremendous response from the community," Capuchin friar Brother Dave Schwab, director of St. Ben's Community Meal, explained.

"We reached out to the metro area and explained that Milwaukee's hungry increases 20 percent during the summer months. The people responded by coming out in strength and supporting the run.
